Early Childhood Education and Care (ECEC) in Japan

In Japan, kindergartens and day nurseries historically have existed under the separate systems of the education sector and welfare sector, resp.. Recently, both sectors have collaborated in the authorization of a new unified system, called a certified children’s center. I will discuss the recent changes in Japanese ECEC following the economic recession, and Japan’s decreasing population after the 1990's.

Prof. Dr. Atsushi Nanakida
Hiroshima University